- Aconitum napellus: This remedy is used for the early stages of conjunctivitis, when the eyes are red, swollen, and painful.
- Belladonna: This remedy is used for conjunctivitis that is accompanied by a fever and headache.
- Euphrasia officinalis: This remedy is used for conjunctivitis that is caused by allergies or irritants.
- Pulsatilla nigricans: This remedy is used for conjunctivitis that is accompanied by a discharge of yellow or green pus.
- Staphysagria: This remedy is used for conjunctivitis that is caused by a foreign object in the eye.

Schuessler salts are a type of homeopathic remedy that is made from minerals. They are named after Dr. Wilhelm Heinrich Schuessler, a German physician who developed this system of medicine in the 19th century.

There are a number of Schuessler salts that can be used to treat conjunctivitis. Some of the most common salts include:

- Calcium fluoride: This salt is used for conjunctivitis that is accompanied by a burning sensation and a discharge of clear fluid.
- Ferrum phosphoricum: This salt is used for conjunctivitis that is accompanied by a fever and headache.
- Kali muriaticum: This salt is used for conjunctivitis that is caused by allergies or irritants.
- Magnesia phosphorica: This salt is used for conjunctivitis that is accompanied by a discharge of white or yellow pus.

- Natrum muriaticum: This salt is used for conjunctivitis that is caused by a foreign object in the eye.

Homeopathy and Schuessler salts can be used together to treat conjunctivitis. To use homeopathy, simply take the recommended dose of the chosen remedy three times per day. To use Schuessler salts, dissolve one tablet of the chosen salt in a glass of water and drink it three times per day.

It is important to note that homeopathy and Schuessler salts are not a substitute for medical care. If you have conjunctivitis, it is important to see a doctor to rule out any underlying medical conditions.

Homeopathy and Schuessler salts are two natural remedies that can be used to treat conjunctivitis. These remedies are safe and effective, and they can help to relieve the symptoms of conjunctivitis quickly and naturally.
