A Musical Journey through Lisbon's Enchanting Past

Perlman's love for Lisbon extends far beyond its musical offerings. He is deeply fascinated by its history and architecture, which he believes are intrinsic to the city's soul. One of his favorite haunts is the Alfama district, the oldest neighborhood in Lisbon, with its labyrinthine streets and traditional Fado houses.

As Perlman strolls through Alfama, he often stops to admire the intricate tilework adorning the buildings, a testament to the city's Moorish heritage. He points out the Sé de Lisboa, the city's 12th-century cathedral, as a must-see for history buffs, with its Gothic architecture and stunning stained-glass windows.

Unveiling Lisbon's Culinary Delights

Perlman's culinary adventures in Lisbon are no less captivating. He delights in the city's vibrant food scene, from traditional Portuguese dishes to innovative fusion cuisine. One of his favorite spots is Time Out Market, a gourmet food hall where he can indulge in a variety of Portuguese specialties, from seafood cataplana to grilled sardines.

For a taste of authentic Lisbon cuisine, Perlman recommends a visit to Cervejaria Trindade, a century-old beer hall known for its traditional Portuguese dishes, such as bacalhau à Gomes de Sá and cozido à portuguesa. The lively atmosphere and friendly staff make it a perfect place to socialize and experience the warmth of Lisbon's people.

Exploring Lisbon's Hidden Treasures

Beyond the well-trodden tourist paths, Perlman seeks out Lisbon's hidden treasures, places that offer a glimpse into the city's authentic character. He recommends a visit to the Museu Nacional do Azulejo, the National Tile

Museum, which houses a vast collection of Portuguese tiles from different periods and regions.

Another hidden gem is the Jardim da Estrela, a peaceful and serene garden in the heart of Lisbon. Perlman loves to stroll through its manicured lawns, admire its exotic plants, and soak up the tranquility of this oasis in the bustling city.

A Musical Legacy in Lisbon

Perlman's connection to Lisbon extends beyond his personal experiences. He has performed countless concerts in the city's prestigious concert halls, including the Gulbenkian Grand Auditorium and the Teatro São Carlos. His renditions of classical masterpieces have captivated Lisbon's audiences for decades.

In 2022, Perlman returned to Lisbon to perform with the Lisbon Symphony Orchestra, a highlight of his musical career. The concert was a celebration of his deep bond with the city and its people. Perlman's passion for music and his love for Lisbon were evident in every note he played.
