The novel begins in the present day with Miki, a young Japanese woman who travels to Australia to work on a horse farm. Miki is a skilled horsewoman, but she is also haunted by the memory of her father, who was killed in a horse racing accident. As Miki works with the horses on the farm, she begins to learn about their history and their connection to humans.

The second character in the novel is Hassan, a young Afghan boy who is forced to become a horse thief in order to survive. Hassan is a gifted horseman, and he develops a deep bond with the horse he steals.

However, Hassan's life is constantly in danger, and he must always be on the run.

The third character in the novel is Bucephalus, Alexander the Great's legendary horse. Bucephalus is a magnificent animal, and he is said to be the only horse that Alexander ever rode. Bucephalus is a symbol of strength and courage, and he helps Alexander to conquer the world.
