Iris Latin America is a non-profit organization that provides education, healthcare, and other services to children and families in need in Latin America. The organization was founded in 2005 by Dr. Ricardo Garcia, a Guatemalan physician who was inspired by the teachings of Jesus Christ to make a difference in the world. Over the past 15 years, Iris Latin America has grown from a small grassroots organization to a major provider of social services in the region. The organization now operates in 10 countries in Latin America and has served over 1 million children and families.

Iris Latin America's mission is to break the cycle of poverty and injustice in Latin America by providing children and families with the resources they need to succeed. The organization's programs focus on education, healthcare, nutrition, and child protection. Iris Latin America also works to empower local communities by providing training and resources to community leaders and organizations.

Iris Latin America's work is based on the belief that every child deserves a chance to succeed, regardless of their circumstances. The organization's staff is committed to providing children and families with the love, support, and resources they need to reach their full potential.
